

Molly Johnson, MHA

Manager

Molly has more than 10 years of experience in the healthcare field. She advises health care organizations on development of clinically integrated networks, ACOs and other aspects of value-based payment, and physician engagement.

Her client experience includes:

- Developing clinically integrated networks and optimizing CIN performance
- Helping clients select opportunities for BPCI Advanced and tracking client performance under BPCI programs
- Medical staff development planning
- Assessing client use of outsourced physician staffing as hospitalists and ED physicians versus employing additional physicians
- Evaluation of physician compensation models for FMV
- Developing ACOs and performing related financial assessments; assessing and optimizing ACO performance; identifying best options under MSSP
- Assessing physician practices across a broad range of specialties

Before joining Veralon, Molly managed clinical research studies at Oregon Health & Science University in Portland, Oregon.

Molly has authored several articles in national publications and has spoken at regional health care organization events. She holds a Master of Health Services Administration (MHA) from the University of Michigan's School of Public Health, and a BA from Dartmouth College.
